Creating a real value for styling

GlamPalm is the exclusive owner of the Healing Stone™ mines in South-Korea. The Healing Stone™ is infused into these world-class styling tools to deliver exceptional therapeutic benefits. The rare and patented Healing Stone Technology™ promotes overall health and eliminates damage of hair often associated with heat styling. The Healing Stone™, used in Eastern medicine for almost 1000 years, is extremely smooth and prevents snags, pulls and breakage.

A Game-Changer Born to Style

Years of research, effort and money have gone into The GlamPalm Clinic™. As an electrical company GlamPalm not only look at the amazing results you can create but also at the hair products that works in combination with it. "This is why we introduced our Nano-Vibrating Technology in combination with our Clinic™ mode," says Koen Verelst, Managing Director of GlamPalm Australia. "With expert craftsmanship, prestigious design and effortless handling, the GlamPalm Clinic™ will shorten your styling time, eliminate frizz and leaves hair looking flawless"

The GlamPalm Clinic™ is a Masterpiece. A real Game-Changer!

Thanks to the ground-breaking Nano-Vibration Technology with its 8000 vibrations per minute, this styler ensures heat is radiated inside the hair instead of drying out its external structure. This creates a healthier finish that is touchably soft and ultra-shiny. In combination with the minimalistic direct friction of the hair to tighten the cuticle, the result is smooth, shiny hair without damage through pulling or snagging. This Nano-Vibration Technology enables the Healing Stone Technology™ to style at a much lower heat, keeping hair at optimal health. The Clinic Mode or better known as Low Temperature Treatment (LTT) will help to apply any treatment or leave-in conditioner to both dry and damp hair to master sleek-straight and flawlessly voluminous styles with minimal effort and maximum precision.

Test results

Recent tests were carried out to give further weight to the results from using this brand. Tested on women with healthy hair who were in their twenties by the Hair and Scalp Laboratory of H University, results showed that after using a competitor's iron, there was damage to the hair and a breakdown of the cuticle. After using GlamPalm, there was virtually no damage to the hair and the overall condition of the hair was scientifically proven to be nearly identical to its condition prior to testing. One test group (Test 1) used GlamPlam and the other group a product from Competitor A (with anodizing heat plate); then another group (Test 2) again used GlamPalm while the others used a product from Competitor B (usual ceramic coated hair iron). The irons were used every day for 4 weeks

Results Test 1

The hair styled using GlamPalm demonstrated minimal damage and the condition of the cuticle was nearly identical to its condition prior to testing. On the contrary, the hair styled using Competitor A's product showed obvious damage including scratches, deterioration, and even total removal of the cuticle.

Results Test 2

Hair styled with GlamPalm showed some minor split-ends, but was otherwise fairly healthy. On the other hand, hair styled with Competitor B's product without a doubt revealed that the cuticle layer of the hair had been split, removed, pressed and bent or severely roughen. The cells of the cuticle layer were shown to have broken or peeled off.

GlamPalm pride themselves in the dedication to the overall health of the planet. Product parts are carefully chosen with consumer health in mind and the Healing Stone™ is sourced using green, sustainable methods.
